Employee Engagement

Employee engagement is a workplace approach designed to ensure that employees are committed to their organisation's goals and values, and are motivated to contribute to organisational success. We use five questions (B47 - B51) in the People Survey to measure employee engagement, and combine all responses (positive, neutral and negative) into a summary index score to tell you where they sit on a scale of very disengaged (0%) through to very engaged (100%).

The Civil Service Employee Engagement Index (EEI) in 2022 is 65%. It decreased 1 percentage point compared to 2021 (median scores).

The graphs on the right present your EEI for 2022 and 2021.

The charts below, instead, displays the five questions that are used to calculate your EEI.

For each question, we've looked at the difference between the proportion of your employees who responded favourably (i.e. selected agree or strongly agree), and compared this to your 2021 results, your parent, and the Civil Service Benchmark.

If the difference is statistically significant, giving us confidence that the difference is not due to random chance, then an arrow will appear. If the arrow is

Core Theme Scores

There are nine core theme scores within the Civil Service People Survey. Each theme measures a different dimension of employee experiences at work, which are known to have a strong relationship with engagement levels. Below, you'll find your overall theme score, plus the results for the individual questions underpinning each theme. Unlike the engagement score only positive responses count towards these scores.

Your percent positive theme score is shown in green and the centre of the chart. Your percent neutral is in grey, and percent negative in pink.

2022 Personal Wellbeing

These four questions are used by the Office for National Statistics (ONS) to monitor wellbeing across the UK, as part of their Measuring National Wellbeing Programme. One of the main benefits of collecting information in this way, is that it is based on people's views of their own individual wellbeing and takes account of what matters to people by allowing them to decide what is important when they respond to questions.

Personal wellbeing response scale

The four questions on personal wellbeing use a response scale that ranges from 0 to 10, as shown below. You'll see that the scale is reversed for question W04, where the percent 'favourable' in green is the proportion of respondents who said they have experienced low or very low levels of anxiety.

Response scale for questions W01, W02 and W03

High (7-8) or Very High (9-10) in green
 Medium (5-6) in grey
 Low (0-4) in pink

Response scale for questions W04

Very Low (0-2) or Low (2-3) in green
 Medium (4-5) in grey
 High (6-10) in pink

The percent favourable represents the proportion of respondents who reported high or very high satisfaction or happiness levels, and the proportion who reported low or very low anxiety levels.

In 2022 at Civil Service Level:

- W01. 64% of respondents are satisfied with their life nowadays (unchanged compared to 2021)
- W02. 69% think that the things they do in their life are worthwhile (1 percentage point less compared to 2021)
- W03. 61% indicated that they felt happy yesterday (unchanged compared to 2021)
- W04. 35% felt anxious yesterday (unchanged compared to 2021).

The graphs on the right show the findings for these questions for the organisation or team you have selected.

2022 Mental Health & Physical Health

To help organisations and teams understand what they can do better to support those with mental and physical health problems to remain in and thrive through work, we asked two questions specifically on these topics (based on the World Health Organization's Health and Work Performance Questionnaire). Due to the Coronavirus pandemic many of us changed the frequency we work at an office or traditional workplace. This reduced our contact with others and meant working from home without office equipment so we have included an ONS recommended question on experiences of loneliness, and a question on musculoskeletal disorders.

J04B. In 2022 71% of civil servants who responded to the survey, self-reported their overall mental health to be excellent, very good or good. This was 1 percentage point lower compared to 2021.

The graph on the right shows the findings for the organisation or team you have selected.

2022 Factors influencing wellbeing

In the Civil Service People Survey we explore three main factors that can influence people's wellbeing: a stressful working environment; a flourishing working environment, and team support.

Stressful work environments

We use something called the Proxy Stress Index to measure conditions that can contribute to stressful environments. It is based on the following Health and Safety Executive stress management standards and People Survey insights:

- Demands - 'I have an acceptable workload' (B33)
- Control over work - 'I have a choice in deciding how I do my work' (B05)
- Support - 'My manager motivates me to be more effective in my job' (B08) & 'I am treated with respect by the people I work with' (B26)
- Relationships - 'The people in my team can be relied upon to help when things get difficult in my job' (B18) & 'During the past 12 months have you experienced bullying or harassment at work?' (E03)
- Role in organisation - 'I have clear work objectives' (B30)
- Change - 'I have the opportunity to contribute my views before decisions are made that affect me' (B45)

A score of 100% tells you that respondents gave the most negative response possible to all eight questions, suggesting they are operating in a highly stressful environment. A score of 0% tells you the opposite.

The 2022 Proxy Stress Index for all Civil Servants is 27%. This increased by 1 percentage point compared to the 2021 index.

The graphs on the right show the Proxy Stress Indexes for 2022 and 2021 for the organisation or team you have selected.

Your Proxy Stress Index in 2022

Your Proxy Stress Index in 2021

Flourishing work environments

We use the PERMA Index to measure the extent to which employees are flourishing 'at work'. It is based on the work of psychologist Martin Seligman and looks at the following five dimensions of wellbeing and happiness, and People Survey insights:

- Positive emotion - 'Overall, how satisfied are you with your life nowadays?' (W01)
- Meaning - 'Overall, to what extent do you feel the things you do in your life are worthwhile?' (W02)
- Engagement - 'I am interested in my work' (B01)
- Relationships - 'The people in my team can be relied upon to help when things get difficult in my job' (B18)
- Accomplishment - 'My work gives me a sense of personal accomplishment' (B03)

A score of 100% tells you that respondents gave the most positive response possible to all five questions, whereas a score of 0% tells you the opposite.

The 2022 PERMA Index for all Civil Servants is 74%, unchanged compared to 2021.

The graphs on the right show the PERMA Indexes for 2022 and 2021 for the organisation or team you have selected.

2021 Your Perma Index

Team support

As an additional measure of flourishing workplace environments, we also asked respondents whether they feel their colleagues genuinely care about their wellbeing.

At Civil Service level, 77% of respondents indicated in 2022 that the people in their team genuinely care about their wellbeing; this remained unchanged compared to 2021.

The graphs on the right show the results for 2022 and 2021 for the organisation or team you have selected.

2022 Taking Action

This page includes the findings in relation to belief that action has and/or will be taken as a result of completing the Civil Service People Survey, a focus on the top drivers of staff engagement, and a summary of respondents' intentions to stay or leave the organisation in the future.

OFFICIAL SENSITIVE

Did you know?...

Research suggests that teams are more likely to be engaged if time has been taken to study and understand their results, to build staff-led action plans.

It can also have an impact on how likely they are to participate in future insight gathering - people are less likely to contribute if their views are perceived to have been ignored in the past.

In 2022:

B52. 51% of respondents believe that senior managers in their organisation will take action on the results from the survey (compared to 54% in 2021);
B53. 35% of respondents indicated that where they work, they think effective action has been taken on the results of the last survey (compared to 38% in 2021).

Focus Areas

While the Engagement Index tells you how engaged your employees are, it does not tell you how to improve or maintain engagement. This is where key driver analysis comes in, as this pinpoints the factors that have the strongest association with your engagement levels.

The table to the right displays the five question results that have the strongest association with the engagement index (identified through correlation analysis) for the team or group of staff you are looking at, and ranks these in order of importance.

The order of importance is determined by something called an 'r' value, or Pearson Correlation Coefficient. If you hover over the blue dot in your key drivers table, you will see the r-value. The r-value can sit anywhere between -1 and 1. A positive r-value suggests that your engagement levels appear to increase as the % favourable score for a question increases; a negative r-value suggests the opposite. The larger the blue dot, the more that question is associated with your employee engagement score.

In the table, you'll also be able to see if these are areas that have improved or worsened over the past 12 months, where trend data is available.

In 2022, at Civil Service level, the correlation is as follows:

B27. $r(343,855)=0.62$, $p<.001$
B41. $r(343,807)=0.63$, $p<.001$
B43. $r(344,126)=0.62$, $p<.001$
B52. $r(344,312)=0.62$, $p<.001$

2022 Heatmaps

This page includes the heatmaps for the engagement questions, the main core themes and the wellbeing questions

OFFICIAL SENSITIVE

Heatmaps: what they are and how to use them

Heatmaps are colour-coded tables that display a breakdown of questions by team and/or demographic. Unfortunately we cannot display negatively phrased questions (like E01 or E03) in these types of tables.

Heatmaps are handy if you are wanting to compare groups side-by-side. Simply scroll down to the table you are interested in, and click the 'breakout' filter at the top of the table, to select the comparison you are interested in. Teams or demographic groups that are 5 or 10 percentage points above the average displayed in the first column of your table will be highlighted in light and dark green, and those that are 5 or 10 percentage points below the average will be highlighted in light and dark pink.

Team Comparisons

By default, your dashboard will display the results for your organisation overall. The first column in your heatmap will therefore be your organisation's results, and the other columns will show the results for "one unit below", i.e. each business area that sits directly under the top level of your organisation.

If you filter your dashboard to focus on the results for a specific business area, then that business area will appear in the first column, and the other columns will show the results for each team within that area.

Demographic Comparisons

If you click on the 'breakout' filter at the top of any heatmap table, you'll see a drop-down list appear with your demographic variables listed. Click any of these to compare the results for demographic sub-groups side-by-side (e.g. men and women), relative to the average score for your organisation overall.

You can then use the hierarchy filter at the very top of your dashboard, to reproduce these tables for specific business areas or teams. You can also apply further demographic filters at the top of your dashboard page; for example, if I wanted to produce a table that showed me the results for ethnic minority men and women, I would select all ethnic minority groups at the top of my dashboard, and then click sex as the table breakout. Remember that you should always set your hierarchy filter first, and then select your demographics.

You'll notice that in your demographic heatmap tables, an extra column called "[no value]" will appear. This represents the results for respondents who chose not to answer the demographic question(s) you've selected.

Exporting your results

We'd recommend exporting these tables to CSV (which you can open in Excel), because exporting to JPG or PDF sometimes (though not always) cuts off some of the rows and columns. This is a known limitation of the platform that we hope to improve.

Engagement questions Heatmaps

Below are two heatmaps for the engagement questions: percent favourable results and percentage point difference.

Unfortunately, it is not possible to display the Employee Engagement Index in this type of table, in the Qualtrics platform.

Please note that if a difference is statistically significant from the results in the first column, an arrow will appear.

Local Grade Heatmaps: how to use them

Because different departments have different grade structures, we've had to present your results by grade in separate heatmap tables on this page. You need to click on the "breakout" filter at the top of each table, and select your organisation from the list. Apologies that the dashboard is not able to list these in alphabetical order. The table will then show a breakdown of your results by your organisation's grade system.

If you select a different organisation from the list, then you will just see the column "[no value]" appear. This is expected, because your employees won't have answered another organisation's question on their grade.

Engagement questions Heatmaps

Below are two heatmaps for the engagement questions: percent favourable results and percentage point difference.

Select your organisation from the 'breakout' filter at the top of this table. If you select a different organisation's grade structure, all of your results will appear in a column called "[no value]". Unfortunately it is not possible to display organisations in alphabetical order.

Unfortunately, it is not possible to display the Employee Engagement Index in this type of table, in the Qualtrics platform.

Please note that if a difference is statistically significant from the results in the first column, an arrow will appear.

The Scottish Housing Regulator Board surveyed staff in November 2019. In previous years, the topics covered were part of the Civil Service People survey, however are now not included in the People Survey. You can read the results below.

Results of the SHR staff survey on the Board

We received 26 responses (61.5% from the Reg Group and 38.5% from DaBS).

Responses to the five questions posed and summaries of the related open comments are set out below:

1. I feel the Board sets specific and understandable priorities for SHR.

2. The Board works to ensure SHR is an effective, independent regulator.

3. The Board provides strategic leadership.
